DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 USC §102(b)/103(a). This rejection is set forth in the prior Office action mailed on March 23, 2007.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed on June 21, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants argue that none of the references teach a flexibilizing system, formed with a flexibilizing agent and an opacity increasing agent and that they do not teach that the net change in opacity of the fibrous structure resulting from the fiber flexibilizing system is greater than the net change in opacity of the fibrous resulting from individual components of the fiber flexibilizing system. Applicants' arguments are not convincing, because it has been the examiner contention that if the papermaking pulps contain the same components, then it must be assumed to have the same properties and therefore, the net change of opacity would be the same as claimed. While applicants have hypothesized of why the fibrous structure of the cited references would not have the same change of opacity, i.e., the fillers are internally added to the fibrous structure, while the polyhydroxy compounds is added to the surface, applicants have not provided any evidence that the fibrous product of the cited references would not have the same changes in opacity. Besides, contrary to applicants' assertion, some of the cited references teach the addition of both additives to the pulp, i.e., internally added, not internally and externally as applicants argue, see for example US Patent No. 5,279,767, column 6, 25-30; US Patent Application Publication No. 2003/0136531 A1, paragraph [0153], just to mention a couple. Moreover, applicants have not provided any arguments as to why it won't be obvious to add two known papermaking compounds as a mixture, system, when it is known to use those compounds at the wet end of the papermaking operation. One of ordinary skill in the art would have reasonable expectation of success if those compounds would work as claimed if the compounds are added either separately or in a mixture as claimed.

Conclusion

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
